HMAS R Unit - Week 8

In week 8 the HMAS R unit will be hearing from Vicki McCarthy - Exercise Physiologist.

Vicki is an Exercise Physiologist and PhD student at the University of Canberra. Having been heavily involved in several sports throughout her schooling, Vicki wanted to pursue a career in elite sport after finishing college and began studying at the University of Canberra (UC). Vicki's studies at UC have spanned from Sports Management to Exercise Science, and into Exercise Physiology. After completing her degree, Vicki decided to take a different path and apply her knowledge of exercise, the body, and clinical conditions into research looking at how physical activity may improve the health of blood vessels in the brain. Vicki is currently completing her PhD whilst she is working as an Associate Lecturer at UC where she is teaching students enrolled in Anatomy and Physiology and Exercise-related units.
